How to Make Meaningful Connections in a Digital Age

Thursday, September 6, 2018

6:00-8:00 p.m.

Speaker: Fr. Michael Rossmann, SJ

Vocation Promoter for the Midwest Jesuits and Former Editor, The Jesuit Post

Union Street

4145 Woodward Ave., Detroit, MI 48201

Smartphones are supposedly ruining our lives and making us incapable of having real conversations. But phones, like other modern means of communication, are tools. We can surely misuse them, but we can also use them to create meaningful connections. Come to our inaugural Jesuit Connections event to find out how.

Evening Program

6:00-6:30 p.m.	Registration and check-in
6:30-7:15 p.m.	Program and Q&A
7:15-8:00 p.m.	Continued conversation and networking

Please RSVP by August 30 at jesuitsmidwest.org/JesuitConnectionsDetroitSept2018 to let us know you are coming. To keep these events affordable, there is a $10 suggested donation that will include one drink ticket and appetizers.

For more information, please contact Dan O'Brien at 773-975-5755 or dobrien@jesuits.org

Jesuit Connections is a series for young professionals that brings together alums of Jesuit high schools, colleges, volunteer programs, and all who share Ignatian values.
